OUR GLOBAL REPUTATION

CHANGE THE FUTURE WITH RESEARCH AND INNOVATION

We transform clever ideas and research discoveries into successful innovations to benefit society, the economy and future generations.

We conduct research across a wide range of areas. We invest considerable resources in areas where we believe we can make the biggest difference, such as:

- Solar power (photovoltaics). We hold the world record for the conversion efficiency of a silicon solar cell, and we are home to the world's fastest solar powered car.
- Clean drinking water. We created membrane filtration technology to filter water that is now used in taps around the world.
- The bionic eye. We successfully trialled a bionic eye system that is a world first in neural stimulation and clarity of vision.
- HIV/AIDS. Since diagnosing Australia's first case of HIV, we have been involved in the development of every existing antiretroviral HIV drug.
- The world's largest computer. Using silicon, we are building the world's largest supercomputer.

Research in Biotechnology and Biomolecular Sciences (BABS) covers areas from fundamental to applied sciences, and includes human bacterial pathogens, hepatitis viruses, tissue engineering, cancer, bioinformatics, functional genomics, extremophiles, astrobiology and more. Research is grouped into four main disciplines:

- Environmental Microbiology
- Systems and Cellular Biology
- Molecular Medicine
- Infectious Disease

The wide array of scientific research conducted in BABS is represented by the active research projects in the School, some of which are suitable for Graduate Diploma students.
See babs.unsw.edu.au/research-projects.

Students interested in one of these research areas or projects should apply for this Biotechnology and Biomolecular Sciences stream. Students who successfully complete the Graduate Diploma (Research) with a sufficiently high weighted average mark (WAM) are qualified to continue further in their research careers by undertaking postgraduate studies by research (Masters or PhD level).

☑ Entry requirements
Applicants are required to have a recognised three year full-time Bachelor degree with a minimum average mark greater than 55, specialising in:

- Molecular and Cell Biology;
- Genetics;
- Microbiology; or
- Biotechnology

Students must also demonstrate in their application that they have research experience in one of the relevant disciplines for this stream. Students without demonstrated research experience will be considered at the discretion of the Postgraduate Coordinator in the School of Biotechnology and Biomolecular Sciences.

It is essential that applicants identify an appropriate academic supervisor and obtain agreement prior to submitting an application for postgraduate study. Applicants will need to identify and contact potential supervisors who have areas of research interest aligned to their own.

The Graduate Diploma (Research) can be used as a higher degree qualifying program (for students who do not meet criteria for direct entry to Honours or MSc/PhD programs), to upgrade existing qualifications or to develop expertise in a different but related disciplinary area from that of their first degree. Students who qualify to enrol in the Honours program would generally be expected to do so rather than enrol in this Graduate Diploma (Research) program. Research projects are available in all areas of the School of Physics at UNSW: astrophysics, biophysics, condensed matter physics, music acoustics, and theoretical physics. Full-time and part-time projects are available, subject to the discretion of the supervisor. Further information on research projects offered in the School, some of which are suitable for Graduate Diploma students, can be found at physics.unsw.edu.au.

☑ Entry requirements
Applicants should have completed a three year (full-time equivalent) Bachelor of Science, with a major in Physics, with a minimum WAM in the range 55-64%. Students with a major in a closely related area, e.g. Astrophysics, may also be eligible for admission.

It is essential that applicants identify an appropriate academic supervisor and obtain their agreement prior to submitting an application for the Graduate Diploma (Research) in Physics. Agreement of a supervisor is not a guarantee of admission but is required before an application will be considered. Information about academics in the School of Physics and their research interests is available from the School of Physics website physics.unsw.edu.au.
